July 9, 2013

PubMed Office US National Library of Medicine National Institute of Health

Re: Recommendation letter for PubMed indexing

The journal Advances in Pharmacoepidemiology and Drug Safety represents a reliable source of information in all areas of the field of pharmacoepidemiology making them freely available through online without any restriction. It provides the possibility of communication for international scientific community. The journal publishes only high quality peer-reviewed articles.

For the reasons mentioned above I strongly recommend the journal Advances in Pharmacoepidemiology and Drug Safety to be indexed in PubMed.

With kindest regards

Markin Wawruch

Martin Wawruch

Assoc. Prof. Martin Wawruch, MD, PhD Department of Pharmacology and Clinical Pharmacology Faculty of Medicine Comenius University Sasinkova 4

811 08 Bratislava

Slovakia

e mail wawruch@hotmail.com, martin.wawruch@fmed.uniba.sk