To the officer-in-charge,

I write in strong support for the Journal of Obesity Weight Loss Therapy to be indexed on PubMed Central. The standards set by the editorial team of the journal are high and the editorial board consists of international experts in the field. The readership and publication rate has grown exponentially over this time and all indications are that this will continue in the medium and longer term. There is no let-up in growing the reputation of the journal.

Without reservation, I strongly recommend that the Journal of Obesity & Weight Loss therapy to be indexed in the PubMed Central. The journal staff and editorial board members have worked very hard in establishing its high professional standing.

Thank you.
